

“Membership of the union and your NUJ card is a vital passport for your career in the media. Starting out in journalism can be tough, the competition is fierce – employers are quick to exploit new journalists.

You need to protect your interests at work by joining the NUJ.”

Michelle Stanistreet, NUJ general secretary

If you're over 16 and working in student media or on a journalism training course, then the National Union of Journalists is the union for you.

The NUJ is the voice for journalists and journalism throughout the UK and Ireland – promoting better rights at work and standing up for media freedom and ethical journalism.

NUJ
NATIONAL UNION

www.nuj.org.uk

With over 30,000 members working as staff or freelancers in all parts of the media sector – including newspapers, news agencies, magazines, book publishing, digital outlets, public relations and photography – the union is a powerful advocate for journalism and its members.

As a member of the NUJ community you'll have access to a number of opportunities and benefits including:

- NUJ membership card
- Student press card
- Chance to meet other journalists at your local NUJ branch
- Networking opportunities including training and events
- Career information and advice
- Free newsletters and magazine
- Chance to add your voice to NUJ campaigns on issues ranging from tackling surveillance of journalists, equal pay and press freedom to protection of sources, diversity in the media and stress at work.

For more information about the NUJ visit www.nuj.org.uk

The union campaigns for:

- Quality, well-resourced journalism
- Better employment rights including pay, wages and holidays
- Industry implementation of the union's ethical codes of conduct for journalists
- An end to all forms of inequality and discrimination at work
- A diverse media and quality, well-resourced public service broadcasting
- A fair rate of pay for all journalists, including interns and trainees, and an end to working for free.
